A MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Graduates,

It gives me great pleasure to congratulate you for the remarkable achievement that is celebrated today. You have met the challenge of rigorous and stimulating course work, experienced one-on-one interaction with faculty members, and possibly engaged in cutting-edge research or innovative project development. Among the distinguished list of graduates today are debate champions, student government leaders, budding scientists, exemplary educators, All-American athletes, outstanding vocalists, and future Broadway stars.

The universal characteristic, though, shared by all gathered here is something unique to this institution: the Mary Washington experience. While intangible and hard to describe, it provides graduates an edge in their pursuits and propels them into significant careers.

I am grateful for the opportunity to be at the helm of this premier university, which has distinguished itself by its regional engagement and has carved out a niche among public liberal arts institutions. As the University of Mary Washington's reputation continues to rise, a diploma from this University will only increase in value.

On behalf of UMW, I am proud to congratulate you for reaching this milestone, and I wish you every success in future endeavors.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in cursive script that reads "Judy G. Hample". The signature is written in dark ink on a light background.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

FIRST LADY OF VIRGINIA, ANNE HOLTON

Virginia First Lady Anne Holton, advocate for Virginia's families and children, has devoted her career to improving foster care and adoption. The wife of Virginia Gov. Tim Kaine, she served for many years as a legal aid lawyer representing low-income families and as a juvenile and domestic relations district court judge in the City of Richmond. Holton has received many awards and honors for her legal and judicial work, including the YWCA of Richmond 2006 Outstanding Woman Award in the category of law.

As First Lady, Holton has continued her commitment to improving the welfare of Virginia's families. Her initiative, "For Keeps: Families for all Virginia Teens," focuses on finding and strengthening permanent families for older children in foster care as well as refining Virginia's Youth Advisory Council. For her work with the initiative, Holton received the 2008 Annie E. Casey Foundation Families for Life Award of Distinction, among other awards.

The First Lady has served on the Virginia Child Support Guideline Review Panel and the Advisory Committee for the Virginia Court Improvement Program.

A native of Roanoke, Va., Holton graduated from Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public Law and International Affairs in 1980. She earned her J.D. from Harvard Law School in 1983, where she met her future husband.

The First Lady's father, Linwood Holton, served as Virginia's governor from 1970 to 1974. She and Gov. Kaine reside in the Executive Mansion with their three children, Nat, Woody, and Annella.

ACADEMIC HONORS AND SPECIAL AWARDS

Academic achievement is recognized at Commencement through a variety of honors and awards. Other awards were presented at the Graduate Recognition Program on Thursday, May 7, and at the Convocation ceremony on Friday, May 8. In addition, most academic departments sponsor chapters of honor societies that recognize student achievement in specific disciplines.

ACADEMIC DISTINCTION

The University recognizes the academic achievement of graduating students through the distinction of summa cum laude, magna cum laude, cum laude, with highest distinction, and with distinction. Students who have earned at least 60 graded credits in residence may qualify for the first three of these awards with the following grade-point averages:

Summa Cum Laude	3.75 or higher
Magna Cum Laude	3.50-3.74
Cum Laude	3.25-3.49

With highest distinction and with distinction are awarded to graduating seniors who have earned 30 to 59 graded credits in residence with the following grade-point averages:

With Highest Distinction	3.75 or higher
With Distinction	3.30-3.74

DEPARTMENTAL HONORS

Students may earn graduation with honors in their major subjects. Each department establishes its own requirements for honors projects or theses. All departments require that a student intending to undertake an honors project have a specified minimum grade-point average in the major subject and a minimum grade-point average for all work completed at the University of Mary Washington.

Professor of Computer Information Systems |
| 2008 | Brenda E. Vogel
Professor of Education |

FACULTY EMERITI

Faculty members who have served the University of Mary Washington for at least 15 years and who have attained the rank of professor or associate professor are eligible to be considered for emeritus status. This honor, by action of the Board of Visitors, is bestowed this year upon the following distinguished members of the faculty.

Bulent I. Atalay

Professor of Physics

Bulent Atalay started teaching at Mary Washington College in 1966, while completing his doctoral dissertation in theoretical nuclear physics at Georgetown University, where he had also earned bachelor of science and master of science degrees. His post-doctoral research took him to University of California, Berkeley, the Institute for Advanced Study, Princeton, and to the University of Oxford as a visiting professor, where he received a master of art degree "by decree." Through the decades, Dr. Atalay has integrated his passion for art and archaeology with teaching and extensive professional activities in physics. A gifted speaker, scholar, and artist, he has won international recognition for his many professional presentations, for his published books and articles, as well as for his artwork. His most recent publications are Math and the Mona Lisa (Smithsonian Books, 2004), now in 12 languages, and Leonardo's Universe (National Geographic Books, 2009). The University of Mary Washington recognized Dr. Atalay's teaching with the 1998 Simpson Award for Excellence in Undergraduate Teaching and the Department of Physics did the same with its 2004 Student Council Excellence in Teaching Award. Dr. Atalay is a member of several professional organizations including the Association of Members of the Institute for Advanced Study, American Physical Society, and the Virginia Foundation for the Humanities.

Vera Niebuhr

Associate Professor of German

Vera Niebuhr joined the Mary Washington College faculty in 1977. She earned a bachelor's degree in German from Douglass College and master's and doctoral degrees in German from the University of Wisconsin at Madison. Her courses reveal Dr. Niebuhr's versatility and breadth of knowledge in her areas of expertise in 19th- and 20th-century German literature, 20th-century German culture and politics, and German stylistics. She is dedicated to student mentoring, and her steadfast service to the department and to the University is extensive and impressive. In 2006, the American Association of Teachers of German and the Goethe-Institut New York awarded her a Certificate of Merit, recognizing her furthering of teaching of German in U.S. schools and her rare combination of "scholarly excellence and pedagogical skills with technological innovation and traditional approaches." For that, UMW chose her for a 2006 Faculty Achievement Award. Dr. Niebuhr has been quite active in the American Association of Teachers of German, which recognized her in 2005 for excellence in foreign language teaching. In years past she was the recipient of grants from the National Endowment for the Humanities, the Goethe-Institut, and the German Federation of Labor for participation in workshops and research. She is a member of the American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages, the Foreign Language Association of Virginia, and Phi Sigma Iota, an international foreign language honor society.

Roy B. Weinstock

Vice President for Planning, Assessment, and Institutional Research and Professor of Psychology

Roy B. Weinstock earned a bachelor of arts degree from Brooklyn College, a master of arts degree from Hollins College, and a doctoral degree from Syracuse University. He joined the Mary Washington College Department of Psychology in 1968 and became chair of that department one year later. He served as chair from 1969 until 1978 and as a full-time member of the teaching faculty until 1980. He moved to the position of associate dean for academic services at that time and later to associate vice president for academic affairs. In 1993, he became vice president for planning, assessment, and institutional research. Among his principal duties with external agencies, Dr. Weinstock served as UMW's liaison to the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Council on Accreditation and School Improvement, was executive director of Mary Washington's 1983 self-study, and directed many projects mandated by the State Council of Higher Education for Virginia. On campus, he developed and directed all efforts related to the evaluation of student learning outcomes assessment in the bachelor of arts and bachelor of science major degree programs as well as the evaluation of the general education curriculum.

ACADEMIC CUSTOMS AND DRESS

The origins of many customs of the academic world can be traced to the Middle Ages, particularly the 11th and 12th centuries when the first European universities – Bologna, Paris, and Oxford – were founded.

In their original organization, the universities were like medieval corporations or guilds. In fact the word “universitas” originally referred to any kind of corporation. The students at the universities were equated to guild apprentices, and so the completion of the apprenticeship was celebrated by a “commencement” marking the beginning of their careers.

In the 12th century, everyone wore gowns. The social and economic status of an individual was shown by the extra features, such as fur trimming, on the gowns. Cloaks with hoods were worn over gowns for protection in bad weather. Degrees began to be awarded in the 13th century, and different styles of gowns and different colors came to represent the various degrees and disciplines.

Over the centuries the styles of dress changed, and by the 17th century, the wearing of gowns by men had virtually ceased. But the universities, particularly those in Britain, continued to be conservative and strict in the manner of academic customs and dress. At Oxford, for instance, candidates for master's degrees had to swear that they owned a gown and would always wear it at the proper times.

The first American universities were founded on English models. However, the wearing of academic dress was not universal and ceased during the Civil War. The custom was revived in the late 19th century, and in 1895 an academic custom code was adopted that, with modifications, is still used.

Most American universities have the standard black gown with the hood serving to distinguish the individual institution. Some American and European universities have adopted or preserved more distinctive gowns. There are three styles of gowns, distinguished mainly by the sleeves: the bachelor's gown, with long pointed sleeves; the master's, with a squared sleeve, cut so the forearm is free; the doctoral, with bell-shaped sleeves with three velvet bands.

The hood is the really distinguishing feature of modern gowns, indicating the degree (the width of the edging band), the discipline (the color of the band), and the college or university (the colors of the lining). Today's graduates have hoods edged in white (B.A.), gold (B.S., BLS), drab (BPS, MBA), or light blue (M.Ed., M.S.). Many faculty members will have blue edging indicating the Ph.D. degree. The faculty will be wearing hoods representing many distinguished institutions of higher education, e.g., scarlet and grey for The Ohio State University, blue and gray for Georgetown University, red and black for Rutgers University, green and black for Tulane University, orange and white for the University of Tennessee, and navy blue and orange for the University of Virginia.

THE ACADEMIC MACE

The tradition of the academic mace began in the late 14th century when two ancient instruments, the royal scepter and the battle mace, were combined to form a symbol of the authority of the president or rector of a university. Noblemen carried the battle mace as both a weapon and staff of command, and the sovereign used the regal scepter as a sign of rulership, justice, and authority.

Together with the chain of office, the academic mace indicates that the president of the university is the temporary embodiment of the power, authority, autonomy, and sovereignty vested in the institution represented.

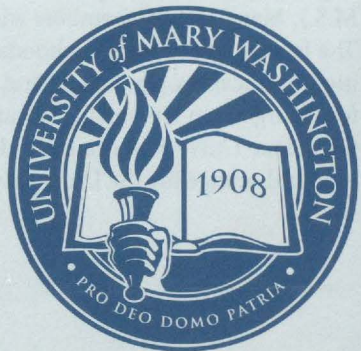

At the University of Mary Washington, the faculty marshal carries the academic mace on behalf of the president at academic events such as Commencement exercises, inaugurations, and convocations.

The original University of Mary Washington mace was designed by Asprey and Company of London, England, and was first used for the May 1970 Commencement.

The sterling mace carried in today's Commencement ceremony was commissioned to Suzannah Wagner Merritt of Ashland, Va., as a special project of the University's Centennial Celebration in 2008. It comprises numerous symbols of the University, including lapis stones to display the school color; blossoms of dogwood to honor the Virginia state tree; acorns and oak leaves to recall the historic tree at Brompton, home of the president; and a herringbone motif representing Campus Walk. The six prongs are engraved with the six names of the school prior to its becoming a university in 2004; they are adorned with a lapis disc engraved with the University seal. The handle is emblematic of the original Mary Washington mace.

THE UNIVERSITY SEAL

In addition to a book and lamp, signifying knowledge, the University seal denotes the year the institution was founded, 1908, as well as the University motto, Pro Deo Domo Patria, translated from Latin to "For God, home, and country."

PRESIDENTIAL COLLAR

Chains of office, also known as collars, originated in the Middle Ages and are worn today by presidents on ceremonial occasions as part of their regalia. The University of Mary Washington chain is a unique design crafted from gold-plated sterling silver with lapis lazuli gem accents. Symbols important to the history of the University are incorporated in every element of the chain. A large medallion depicting the school seal is flanked by white oak leaves modeled after the stately oak tree at Brompton, home of the president. The names of the previous presidents of this institution alternate with its six historical names on links that are connected with blossoms of dogwood, the Virginia state tree. The chain was unveiled during Commencement 2006 and by tradition is presented to each new president to wear during ceremonial occasions.

THE EAGLE PIPE BAND

Performing at today's Commencement ceremony is the Eagle Pipe Band. The band was formed in 1997 with a small number of Mary Washington students and members of the Fredericksburg community. It has grown steadily each year, adding pipers, drummers, and dancers. In 2008, the band won the Ohio Valley Grade V Championship and the Mid-Atlantic Grade V Championship.

Of special interest, the Eagle Pipe Band was founded by and is under the direction of Dr. Raymond B. Scott, Professor of Chemistry at the University of Mary Washington. The tartan worn by the performers was designed by the University to match the school colors. It is registered in Scotland's official registry of tartans.

UNIVERSITY OF MARY WASHINGTON- COMMUNITY SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

Offering music during today's Commencement ceremony is the University of Mary Washington-Community Symphony Orchestra. Celebrating its 39th year, the group is recognized as a premier college-community orchestra of national distinction that is a cultural jewel for central Virginia. The orchestra program delivers an outstanding music education for students, high levels of community engagement, and quality entertainment and educational resources for the region.

The UMW-CSO is under the direction of Dr. Kevin Patrick Bartram who is concluding his seventh year as orchestra director at the University of Mary Washington.

ALMA MATER

All hail, dear Alma Mater,
We sing our praise to you.
High on Marye's Hilltop
You stand forever true;
Born in truth and honor
You ever more shall be,
The model of our future years
And all eternity.

Whene'er we have to leave you
We never will forget,
The lessons you have taught us,
And all the friends we've met;
And we your sons and daughters
Will hold your name on high,
So here's to Mary Washington;
Our love will never die.
